About us and the environment

We try to think green, so we throw away as little as possible, use organic products to a large extent and preferably only buy products that have been produced so that environmental impact is considered from start to finish.

We do what we can and constantly try to optimize, which is why there are several options for free. Too often these options haven't been used and turned into garbage. So now we ask that you simply ask for them. The options appear on the menu card.

Note that we have vegan cheese as well as gluten-free alternatives for bread and cake.
